zone display cases

Experience a breakthrough in museum display case design with our innovative ZSL-1000 Glass Sliding System, engineered for larger cases.

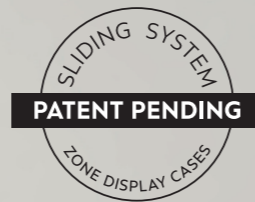

SIMPLICITY AT THE HEART OF INNOVATION

Merging minimalist design, cutting-edge engineering, and refined aesthetics, our glass sliding system is crafted into a sleek, compact structure, delivering seamless integration and an ideal balance of form and function.

Developed to meet museum conservation standards, this system is the ultimate solution for showcasing and protecting your collections.

MINIMAL DESIGN, EFFICIENT MECHANICS

By distilling the system to its essential components, we've created a mechanism that is streamlined, highly efficient, and delivers smooth, effortless operation with impressive load capacities.

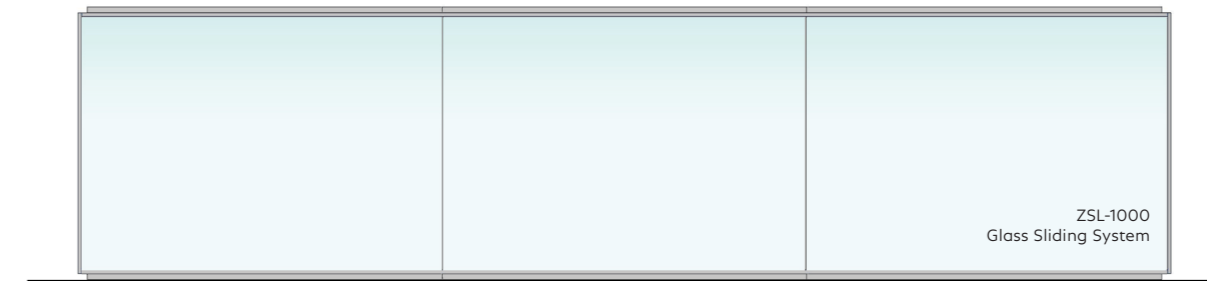

The clean lines of the display case not only complement the content, but it also enhances the overall visitor experience.

BRINGING YOUR COLLECTIONS TO THE FOREFRONT

Our system effortlessly supports the weight of large glass panels, reducing the number of visible joints and doors by up to 50% compared to traditional systems.

CAPACITY & DIMENSIONS

GLASS DOORS	2,4 to 3,6 meters (8 to 12 feet) for both width or height
WEIGHT LIMIT	1000 pounds (454 kg) per door

SEAMLESS ADAPTATION TO YOUR STRUCTURE

Our sliding system offers exceptional adaptability to any structural framework. The door width is independent of your structure's dimensions, offering unparalleled flexibility and ease of integration.

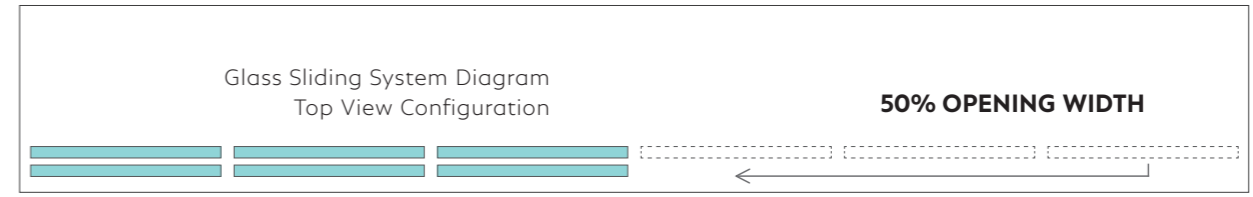

Multiple Access Configurations

UNIQUE ACCESSIBILITY FEATURE

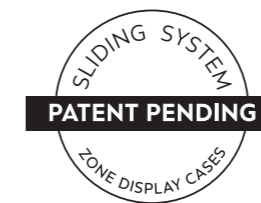

The opening mechanism functions separately from the structure, allowing the doors to glide effortlessly from left to right and align perfectly when closed, forming a tight seal. This unique design provides optimal access for exhibit preparation and maintenance, with a level of versatility that no other systems on the market offer.

EFFORTLESS OPERATION, MAXIMUM SECURITY

Designed for effortless operation by a single person, the system also incorporates indispensable security features, ensuring both convenience and peace of mind.
